

The transmitter, RF2 adaptor and receiver are shown separated from the satellite decoder and TV for interconnection clarity. They do however, plug directly into the rear connectors of the satellite decoder and TV, and are not visible from normal viewing positions.